Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain it effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District.

ST. ALBANS, VT., Jan., 20, 1880.

DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with Kendall's Spavin Cure has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS., March 16, 1880.

B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gents:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with Kendall's Spavin Cure, one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there, I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but if it does for all what it has done for me it will be very great. Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for Illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price 25¢ per bottle, or six bottles for $1.50. All mail orders will be filled. Get your money's worth by sending to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. 127d.

WHERE AWAY.

O the Lands of Where Away!
Tell us—tell us—where are they?
Through the darkness and the dawn
We have journeyed on and on—
From the cradle to the cross—
From possession unto loss,
Seeking still from day to day
For the Lands of Where Away.

When our baby feet were first
Planted where the daisies burst,
And the greenest grasses grew
In the fields we wandered through,
Still with childish discontent
Ever on and on we went,
Hoping still to pass some day,
O'er the verge of Where Away.

Roses laid their velvet lips
On our own, with fragrant sips,
But their kisses help us not,
But their sweetness we forgot;
Though the thorns in our track
Plucked at us to hold us back—
"Just ahead," we used to say,
"Lie the Lands of Where Away."

Children at the pasture-bars;
Through the dusk, like glimmering stars,
Waved their hands that we should bide
With them over eventide,
Down the dark their voices failed
Faster than as they hurried,
And died into yesterday—
Night ahead and—Where Away!
Twining arms about us thrown—
Warm caresses, all our own,
Can but stay us for a spell—
Love has nothing new to tell
To the soul in need supreme,
Aching ever with the dream
Of the endless bliss it may
Find in Lands of Where Away!
—J. W. Riley, in Indianapolis Journal.

How a Woman Vanquished a Burglar.

Early on Tuesday morning Mrs. David Conhaim was aroused from sleep by a burglar's stealthy step. She could hear the burglar moving along on his hands and knees from the dining-room to the bedroom, and at each step something struck the floor which she believed to be either a billy or revolver. In the meantime the burglar had taken all her husband's clothing which had been left on a chair, including a gold watch and chain and sixty dollars in cash, and was stealthily making his way back toward the dining-room door, which opens into a yard. Mrs. Conhaim concluded that the time for action had arrived. She left her bed, walked to a bureau in one corner of the room wherein a loaded revolver was kept, and in doing so must have passed within a few feet of the crouching burglar. After gaining possession of the revolver, she entered the dining room just as the burglar had passed out to the porch, where he was found standing on the step with most of the stolen clothing under one arm and the vest held in his right hand. This brought them within about three feet of each other. The brave lady coveed the thief with the weapon and exclaimed:

"Drop the clothes or I will fire!"

The response came in the shape of a blow over the head and face with the vest held in the burglar's hand, he evidently intending to either blind her or knock her down with the weight of the heavy gold watch in the pocket. Luckily, however, the watch flew out of the pocket and, as Mrs. Conhaim threw her hand up to ward off the blow, the chain struck between her fingers, close to the watch. Instantly she closed her hand over the time-piece, gave a jerk backward, which broke the chain, whereupon the burglar, with a fierce oath, threw the vest at her face, unconscious of the fact that the sum of $60 in currency had been left undisturbed in one of the pockets.

The burglar then started toward Eleventh street, Mrs. Conhaim firing two shots at him, without effect, probably, and following him as closely as possible. When he reached the sidewalk on the latter street he stopped an instant, threw up both hands, and dropped all the clothing on the sidewalk. Mrs. Conhaim picking them up and carrying every garment back to the house.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Newspaper Writers.

The complaint has gone forth that the every-day young men of the press, and some of the old ones are "color-blind." They miss in their nightly toil that subtle flavor, that graphic quality, that aroma of description, which is best labeled "color."

While the justice of this complaint is freely admitted by the editorial profession, they claim that outsiders cannot possibly estimate the difficulties which lie in the way of securing news writing of uniform descriptive excellence. The man who can write correctly, concisely, rapidly and graphically, does not multiply himself to any great extent. The first then of these qualities are indispensable in daily, and, indeed, periodical work; the latter is certainly very desirable. But when one has to keep time with his pen to the modulations of the press in the basement while it runs off the first half of the paper, he does not pause very often or long in the hope of drawing "the aroma of description" from the bottom of his ink stand, as it were. There are many men, who, while they even do excellent work, left to their own time and way, notably fail when they attempt to provide music for a press that runs seven nights in the week. The best newspaper style is not formed in a day or year. Supposing a young man, fresh from college, joins the "press gang" of a first-class office. The words of his commencement stage oration are still ringing in his ears and they represent his highest ideals of style. He is eager to produce them in an editorial; for he looks down on mere news-gathering as beneath the high estate of one so learned as himself, and does not always remember that there is no present vacancy in the chair of the managing editor. He would not be human if he failed to work considerable "high-felutin" into the items which he writes. The inexorable blue pencil cuts all of this out, and the youth soon settles down to hard facts and the business of his own department, coming in time to have a horror of florid "newspaper English." Then comes the danger that he will go to the other extreme and his work become devoid of all color, on the same principle that the traditional Yankee, once noted for asking questions while a road, now travels with his lips so closely sealed that the natives have hard work to find out what he is like. But if the beginner has anything in him he will gradually learn his forte and come to weave into his work a color of his own that is all the more acceptable for its originality.

The man who sees a thing well can usually describe it well. Habits of close observation and a well-trained memory make up the foundations of success of all brain-workers. And the journalist who can store up any bit of color he may chance upon, for instant use when it is most needed, is fortunate indeed. He is like the lawyer who, when he was congratulated on the exceeding appropriateness of a story he had told a jury, replied: "Oh, well, I have been waiting fifteen years for a chance to tell that story." And doubly fortunate is the news chronicler who, seeing and remembering events well, also senses their correct relations to each other.

That the tone of our periodical news-writing is improving no one will deny. The quality of the men who devote themselves to it is constantly rising, both as regards character and education. The reporter is a growing power, and he will yet come to stand on a par with the best of editors. Indeed he should be able to play the editor at any moment, and not only be allowed but expected to make editorial comments on the events which are occurring in his own field.—Paper World.

LEXINGTON now has a population of twenty thousand souls.

COL. TAYLOR, republican, has been elected to congress in the seventeenth, Ohio, district.

WILBER F. BROWDER, of Russellville, has withdrawn as a candidate for attorney general.

ONE and a half millions of dollars were collected as the tax on whisky in the Lexington district last year.

THE total of British army and navy pensions is $16,244,865; about one fourth that of the United States.

IT is thought the senate civil service bill will be reported to the house by the civil service commission without amendment.

COL. W. H. HOLT, of Mt. Sterling, is announced as a republican candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals in this district.

A LEXINGTON, Ky., special says: "The Southern railroad company will locate repair shops here and make Lexington the end of a division of the road."

AUGUSTA, with a population of 1,800, has eight churches and nine preachers—three Methodist, two Presbyterian, two Baptist, one Christian and one Catholic.

THE excess of exports for twelve months, ended November 30, 1882, was $1,434,835; excess of export of gold and silver coin and bullion for the same period, $32,701,307.

GAMBETTA's death was caused by a pistol shot wound in his arm inflicted by his mistress with whom he lived a cat and dog life. He abused her vilely and brutally and in return for his treatment was shot by her. He kept the secret to the last.

ANALYSIS detected in one drop of Lexington well water the following: Several varieties of woody fiber, a number of pink fragments of wool, a large colony of spores in the process of subdivision or budding, a hair tied in a knot, the leg of a water flea, cotton fibers, husk of wheat or oats, and a large quantity of decomposed animal matter.

PRIZES OF THE HAREM.

How English Girls are Decoyed Into the Seraglios of the East.

It is quite notorious, says the London World, that every harem in the East aims at getting a European tenant for it. Year after year girls are reported to be missing from London, or Paris, or Brussels without any one knowing what has become of them. In a few days they are forgotten; they may have drowned themselves, become reformed, or died their usual death. Sometimes the story is that the girl has been decoyed to Belgium; though why Belgium, which is blessed with a plethora of that particular species of frailty, should cart coals to its own Newcastle is not easy to explain. Meantime it is impossible to pass along the streets of London without seeing snaky-eyed Orientals peering into the faces of millinery girls; and he must be an unobservant traveler indeed who has sailed for Alexandria or Port Said without meeting the same rascallions escorting rosy-cheeked damsels Cairoward. The supply is perhaps a little less than it used to be when Ismail Pash ran special trains for the convenience of this consignment from Europe. But that in Egypt, India, Turkey, and the Orient generally every harem of any consequence keeps in its gilded cage one or more frail or foolish Britons is a fact which it is needless trying to deny, though it is humiliating to confess.

These wretched girls are tempted by a life of ease and indolence. They are dazzled by a show of jewels, fine clothes, and the stories of the gorgeous East, and find too late that they have entered a squalid prison, amid women as heathen as any women whom the world can show, and with whom it is impossible to exchange a word to while away the loneliness of a life which has lost its novelty. So long as they keep the favor of their lords they are objects of persecution and plots; when they lose it their lot is unhappy beyond conception.

Such stray lambs are seldom sought after, though to their relatives they are as much lost as if they had plunged into the sea. The harem rarely surrenders its prisoners, and if it did they are too ashamed to return, poor and disillusioned. Again and again have rumors reached Delhi of General Wheeler's daughter and other European ladies being kept in the harems to which they were dragged during the Indian mutiny. But soon the scent is lost. If there is any truth in the gossip it is certain that the objects of it are just beyond the chances of recovery, for whoever the harem owner introduces to his guests he takes care to make an exception in favor of his Ferringheed. But if silly damsels err through ignorance and a love of laziness, what is to be said of women, reasonably well educated, who calmly to gratify ambition, to spite somebody, or from some vague idea of "the romance of the thing" or sell themselves in cold blood to an Eastern potentate? The unhappy Mrs. Digby, after varied marital experience, espoused the dirty Bedouin camel-driver, Michel of the Mizrab. What her opinions were she kept to herself; for, a pariah among her kindred, Lord Ellenborough's quondam bride felt sour to all the Christian race. It may be that this hatred is shared by—and constitutes their approach to happiness of—the weak-faced women who have chosen to be harem Britons.

It has been finally decided that the shops of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas railroad will in a short time be located at Lexington, Ky., the question of water supply having been favorably settled.

Gigantean Minstrels.

Among a large number of favorable press notices we have seen of Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrel troupe, which is to appear at the opera house next Saturday evening, we take the following from the Hartford (Conn.) Courant:

The performance of Leavitt's Gigantean Minstrels at the opera house last night was one of the best in the line that has ever been given there. Nearly all the troupe were new to our city, but they will leave behind an excellent reputation. Where all were so good it is impossible to particularize any individual. The orchestra especially was very fine and the music alone was a feature of the entertainment. The company was attired in handsome uniforms, something entirely new in this line. Nearly every piece on the programme was doubly encored. There is no better troupe traveling, and the large audience went away delighted. We hope they will soon come again.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral.

No other complaints are so insidious in their attack as those affecting the throat and lungs: none so trifled with by the majority of sufferers. The ordinary cough or cold, resulting perhaps from a trifling or unconscious exposure, is often but the beginning of a fatal sickness. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL has well proven its efficacy in a forty years' fight with throat and lung diseases, and should be taken in all cases without delay.

A Terrible Cough Cured.

"In 1857 I took a severe cold, which affected my lungs. I had a terrible cough, and passed night after night without sleep. The doctors gave me up. I tried AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which relieved my lungs, induced sleep, and afforded me the rest necessary for the recovery of my strength. By the continued use of the PECTORAL a permanent cure was effected. I am now 62 years old, hale and hearty, and am satisfied your CHERRY PECTORAL saved me. HORACE FAIRBROTHER," Rockingham, Vt., July 15, 1882.

Croup.—A Mother's Tribute.

"While in the country last winter my little boy, three years old, was taken ill with croup; it seemed as if he would die from strangulation. One of the family suggested the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, a bottle of which was always kept in the house. This was tried in small and frequent doses, and to our delight in less than half an hour the little patient was breathing easily. The doctor said that the CHERRY PECTORAL had saved my darling's life. Can you wonder at our gratitude? Sincerely yours,
Mrs. EMMA GEDNEY."

159 West 128th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

"I have used AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL in my family for several years, and do not hesitate to pronounce it the most effectual remedy for coughs and colds we have ever tried. A. J. CRANE," Lake Crystal, Minn., March 13, 1882.

"I suffered for eight years from Bronchitis, and after trying many remedies with no success, I was cured by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. JOSEPH WALDEN."

Byhalia, Miss., April 5, 1882.

"I cannot say enough in praise of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, believing as I do that but for its use I should long since have died from lung troubles. E. BRAGDON," Palestine, Texas, April 22, 1882.

No case of an affection of the throat or lungs exists which cannot be greatly relieved by the use of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and it will always cure when the disease is not already beyond the control of medicine.

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., JANUARY 4, 1883.

ROSSER & McCARTHY,
PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

OUT doors to-day the rain and sleet,
That Vennor sent unto us,
Has made us now and then attempt
To drive the pavement through us,
Just think how odd it looks to see,
When dignifiedly walking,
And meets a friend, the citizen
Sit down to do his talking.

How does your new diary work?

NEXT Monday is county court day.

GUARD carefully those new resolutions.

THE public can complain of no dearth of entertainments this week—and all of them good ones.

MASON MORRIS, JR., of Clark county, raised, in 1882, sixty-five acres of tobacco, which will yield between 90,000 and 100,000 pounds.

MESSRS. J. H. HALL & Co. shipped a large number of plows to the West Indies this week. They have a large and growing trade there.

MORE attention should be paid to the proper ventilation of the opera house. For a time last night the atmosphere was very oppressive.

MR. J. B. Kampe, who has been spending several months in Maysville, has accepted a place in the office of the Boody House, at Toledo, Ohio.

PILE driving in the bed of Limestone Creek was resumed to-day. The workmen are engaged in protecting the banks on the east side of the stream.

It has just been determined at Lexington, that two young ladies who recently died of typhoid fever contracted the disease from water rendered impure by the town branch.

WE have been informed that certain persons at Newport, Ky., who are interested in street railways there, have had their attention directed to the enterprise here, and will probably interest themselves in the matter.

THE entertainment by the Barlow, Wilson & Co. minstrel troupe at the opera house last night was the best of the kind ever given in Maysville. The music, both vocal and instrumental, especially was good. Should the company visit Maysville again it may be sure of a crowded house.

THE marriage of Miss Anna Douglass January to Mr. Stanley Fleetwood, of Chicago, was solemnized last night at the residence of Hon. R. A. Cochran, the ceremony by Rev. S. B. Alderson. Currier's orchestra, of Cincinnati, was present and furnished most delightful music during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fleetwood left for Chicago this morning attended by the good wishes of all their friends.

W. A. STOCKDALE had his examining trial Wednesday, the 3rd inst., before his Honor Mayor January, under a charge of grand larceny and was held to bail in the sum of $100, for his appearance at the approaching term of the circuit court, to answer said charge. It is alleged that Stockdale, on the night of the 2nd, inst., took a carriage and horses which he found without a driver on Market street, and after using it abandoned it in East Maysville, where it was recovered by Brooks & Parker, the owners.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Eighteen Convicts Drowned.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 3, 1883.—By the sinking of a flatboat to-day on the Tusgee river, Jackson county. Eighteen out of fifty convicts were drowned.

Fatal Floods in Germany.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3, 1883.—The floods throughout Europe are increasing and causing considerable loss of life. At Frankenthal, Bavaria, 6,000 persons abandoned their homes. Five hundred houses were destroyed in villages around Worms, and 70 houses at Badenheim. Other districts report heavy destruction of property and loss of life.

Irish News.

LONDON, January 3.—It is reported from Dublin that an armed party to-day attacked three emergency bailiffs at Upper Ross, Tipperary. The bailiffs returned the fire, killing one man.

LONDON, January 3.—A farmer named Sheridan, an ex-sheriff, was found murdered on the high road near Ballinmore. There were two bullet holes in his head.

DUBLIN, January 3.—The police arrested two persons to-day who are suspected of assisting in the attempted assassination of Dennis Field, one of the jurors in the Hynes case.

DUBLIN, January 3.—Delaney, the Fenian, was sentenced to-day to ten years penal servitude, for attempting to murder Judge Lawson, by shooting him on the street.

LIMERICK, January 3.—A farmer was shot dead to-day at Bradford, county Clare. It is believed to be an agrarian murder.

Oh! That Cake.

An enjoyable affair was the cutting of a large six-layered jelly cake, by a few gentlemen at the office of an east end firm Wednesday evening. Mr. Levi Fleming presented the cake with a few appropriate remarks. More cake.

NEW YORK.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral is recommended by physicians of the greatest eminence on both sides of the Atlantic, as the most reliable remedy for colds and coughs, and all pulmonary disorders. It affords prompt relief in every case. No family should ever be without it.

COUNTY POINTS.

STONE LICK.

Mr George Farrow has a very sore eye.

Mr James Anno is losing his eye-sight.

Mr Len Bullock has returned after a long sojourn in Shelby county. He expects to locate either here or in California, where his sister is living.

Two of our ladies saved themselves from being run over by an infuriated cow by pelting her with rocks. They battled for dear life and made every rock hit the mark.

Aunt Polly Tolle, who is in the ninetieth year of her age, is able to do her churning and butter dressing. Has retained all her faculties remarkably well. Is a member of the old school Baptist church. She is the widow of the late Reuben Tolle.

Mr and Mrs H Clay Stone gave a dinner last Saturday in honor of Elder J Taylor and wife. Mrs Wallingford and son of Fern Leaf, Miss Bella Tolle and her sister Lizzie were among the guests, and last but not least your correspondent was also one of the fortunate who were present. God bless all who make dinners, and especially those who remember us with a call.

Stuart Wallingford was hunting with George Calvert near Mt Gilead last week. They were lucky in killing quite a number of rabbits and birds.

Basil Calvert has returned home from Fern Leaf, where he has been fox hunting with John Wallingford. They hunted for several days and caught nothing but a cold.

Mrs Amanda Wallingford, who has been sick for several days, is convalescing.

There has been quite a number of parties this Christmas in and around Orangeburg. All passed off quietly which speaks well for the behavior of our young gentry.

We boast of the prettiest girls, the sprightliest young widows and the most sociability of any place of the same size in the county.

Miss Mary E Prather, of Fleming county, and Miss Emma Hull, of Missouri, are visiting their aunt Mrs Malinda Wallingford near Mt Gilead.

Mr Warren, of Vanceburg, is visiting his relations Mr and Mrs R H Willitt, near Mt Gilead.

We learned a young friend of ours was jilted by his lady love, and tried to prevent other gentlemen from waiting on her, but he soon learned to his sorrow (a black eye) that it was an up hill business.

Two of Mr H C Stone's children have been very sick but are about well again. Too much Christmas the cause.

Mrs Amanda Wallingford was prevented from attending church last Saturday and Sunday by sickness. She is much better and is again able to go about the house.

Elder J H Wallingford visited his sick friends near Mayslick the first of this week. He found Mrs Gordon very low, her death daily growing near. Mrs Armstrong much improved; hopes are entertained of her getting up again.

REPORTER.

WASHINGTON.

Mary Cook, colored, stole from the family of Col C A Marshall, clothing to the amount of $15. She was held for trial at the circuit court.

W R Gill has left for Missouri, where he is to be married to the daughter of George Hayden. L G Maltby is his best man.

Robert Hunter has rented the old stone front and will move in it to keep store, with Joe at the head of affairs.

The tollgate put up on the Hill City pike in the limits of the town is creating quite a trouble for some one. Look out.

Harry Burgoyne, of Fern Leaf, was in town Sunday.

Charles T Anderson and the charming Miss Hattie Cutter spent a few days last week in Fleming county.

Miss Wee Metcalfe has gone to Natchez to make and extend visit.

We are sorry to note the sickness of James B Key. Dr McGranaghan is attending him.

HEATHCOTE.

MAYSICK.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Anderson, after spending a week pleasantly with friends here left for their home in Dover, last Monday morning.

Mrs. A. H. Day an accomplished dress maker, has taken rooms at Mrs. Julia Longnecker's, where she will do all kinds of sewing. Give her a call.

James Porter the walnut man, left this week for Ohio, to attend to some business matters.

The wife of Robert Devine, presented him with a New Year's gift, Monday the first—a bouncing baby boy.

Mrs. Anthony Laytham is still quite poorly. This is hard weather on the growing crop of wheat.

Uncle Billy Mitchell is not improving much if any.

Our town is now enjoying a quiet time since the colored population have gone to work.

Our old friend John Grimes made us a social call this week; he reports everything flourishing in Fleming county.

Very little tobacco has been stripped in this section as yet, and no sales are being made.

Two barrels of apple jack came to town this week.

Miss Myra Myall is visiting in Maysville, this week.

Joe Litter's saw mill is still taking Christmas, but quietly.

Squire James Raymond left this week, for Missouri, on a business trip.

We are having a great deal of dark gloomy looking weather and but little snow or rain falls.

Eggs and butter are in the same notch 20 cents.

H. Warder has moved in the house vacated by W. J. Loos, the property of Benjamin Longnecker.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read THE SUN during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women.

We are creditably informed that people buy, read and like THE SUN for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has interest for mankind: the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense—all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs THE SUN makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixty-five days in the year, before election as well as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of descent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. THE SUN has absolutely no purposed to serve save the information of its readers and the furtherance of common good.

Because it is everybody's news, paper. No man is so humble that THE SUN is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to be exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent over-throwing popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, THE SUN stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachments of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers.

All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds that THE SUN is the best religious newspaper ever published, because christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of THE SUN discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual liking.

If you already know THE SUN, you will observe that in 1883 it is a little better than before. If you do not already know THE SUN, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a store house of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jeffersonian Democracy, a scourge for wickedness of every species, and an uncommonly good investment for the coming year.

Terms to Mail Subscribers.

Houses for Winter.

House cleaning in the fall, although much less prominent is given to it, is fully as important as house cleaning in the spring, especially when, as is often the case in town, the house has been closed for the summer. The use of disinfectants is then necessary, and sweeping, dusting, scrubbing and whitewashing are imperatively called for. It is a well known fact that malaria is more active in the early fall than at any other season even in the dog days. There is in the air an excess of moisture, and this, with the heat, are the exact elements necessary for decomposition. Mephitic taints are slower in coming to a head, so to speak, and so linger longer about the house. Besides in our furnace-heated houses, the frost has no chance to kill poisonous germs, and when the fires are started they rise on the hot air, carrying the seeds of disease and death into parlor and bedroom. Therefore, if whitewashing is done but once a year, the fall rather than the spring should be the time selected, and every nook and corner of the cellar should be well whitewashed. A strong solution of copers is excellent for pouring down sinks and water closets, while chloride of lime should be used for sprinkling in back yards and damp corners. Concentrated lye or a strong solution of potash will often clear a stopped pipe by eating away the objection. It is, however, useless where much grease has accumulated, since it merely converts it into soap and so hardens it. These accumulations are more frequent than one is apt to suppose, and sometimes clog the drain pipes by degrees until at last a space of several feet is filled. To clear this out, the aid of the plumber is necessary, but it may be prevented by occasionally, say once a week, flushing the pipe with hot water.

Beds should be cleaned, mattresses sunned and blankets and quilts which have been packed away taken out and well aired to rid them of the odor of camphor or tar-paper. Strong spirits of ammonia injected by means of a small glass syringe into every crevice of the bedstead will effectually dislodge any unpleasant occupants, and should be supplemented by a liberal dusting with insect powder.

Where carpets have been left on the floor, give them a thorough sweeping, either with a new broom, or better still, a patent carpet-sweeper. When this last is used it will be necessary to use a dust-brush and pan for the corners. If any signs of moths are detected, turn back the edges of the carpet and sprinkle with insect powder thickly under them—this will probably check their ravages. Steam cleaning is, however, the only certain method of destroying them.—Philadelphia Press.

A Bashful Theologue.

Young Smith is a theologian in the neighboring seminary. He is bashful, and is fear possessed of a heart all too susceptible to female charms. Smith has undertaken to teach the village school this winter, and has for his pupils several girls, among whom it is shrewdly suspected the future Mrs. S. may possibly be found. The other day a class in the primary stages of natural philosophy was reciting. In it was the young lady upon whom Mr. Smith is supposed to look tenderly.

Teacher.—“Now, Laura, you may describe the structure of the eye.”

Embarrassed silence on Laura's part. Teacher.—“Of what parts does the eye consist?”

Laura blushes prettily, but fails to remember.

Teacher (trying a different form of question).—“What have I in my eye, Laura?”

Laura (glancing saucily at him).—“A pupil, sir!”

Class titters. Smith blushes painfully and calls the next scholar.—Our Continent.

Gen. Wolseley will be the thirteenth soldier admitted by Queen Victoria, for the good temper of his sword, into the peerage.

The Boston Post has learned that Napoleon loved pie. We believe he also wore clothes. He was likewise a man.—Detroit Free Press.
